

A specialization in Curriculum and Instructional Studies will enable teachers to explore new fields of curricular or instructional study or to further their studies in a field of interest for professional purposes. It permits students to focus primarily on curriculum questions or on instructional questions, or to work in both areas. Courses in this program will be offered in various locations in the province.

Core courses:

- Education Curriculum and Instructional Studies 363, 396, 487.....(12)

Elective courses:

- Courses in the Faculties of Arts, Commerce, Education, and/or Science ... (18)

Total number of credits(30)

Diploma Program Planning Guide

Please retain this program planning guide for your records of progress.

1. List the Core Courses completed (with credit value): _____

2. List the Elective courses completed (with credit value): _____

3. Where applicable, list course approvals and/or transfer credits granted (with credit value):

4. Start date of Diploma: _____

5. Five-year time-limit ends: _____

6. Graduation Application deadline: _____

To find course information and to register in courses go to www.students.ubc.ca.